Notes from the Cantor

I am writing this article 2 days before Rosh Hashana. The deadline is early because with all the upcoming holidays, the office has less time to get our bulletin to you by the beginning of the month. Yet by the time you read this article at the beginning of October, the High Holidays known as the Yamim Noraim – The Days of Awe, for good reason, will be over. We will be in the midst of the joyous, if less intense Sukkot holiday.

Although Rosh Hashana is looming ahead as I write this article, the intense spiritual period has in fact already begun, with our wonderful well-attended Selichot program and service that took place on Saturday night September 5th. I was concerned about attendance as it was Labor Day weekend, yet we had the largest crowd in recent memory as our chapel was full for the service despite the late hour.

At this point I cannot project how we will feel in two weeks when you receive this bulletin, with Yom Kippur already behind us, other than a huge sense of relief. I am sure you are all well aware of the preparation and myriad details it takes in a congregation like ours with minimal staff, to pull it all together. Just ask our staff about the endless lists I have churned out for them, day by day, item by item, to ensure that everything runs smoothly. So if not everything goes according to the way everyone might want, please be patient and tolerant. After all the High Holidays are a stark reminder of the power of forgiveness and patience, as so beautifully expressed by Rabbi Jonathan Sacks, former Chief Rabbi of Britain, in the movie I showed for Selichot. Several of you have asked to borrow the DVD; I will make it available after the holidays on a 1st come basis, but you will find it on the internet. Just google YouTube, enter his name and pre-Selichot speech of August 31st, 2013.

Foremost in my mind right after the holidays will be to thank all the many people, professional and volunteer, whose huge collaborative efforts go into producing a frenzied month of observances. But how can you thank them before it has actually happened? So my thanks will have to wait till November's bulletin, by which time, I fear, the impact of this now approaching period may well be a long forgotten memory...

A news item that recently caught my attention which I believe is relevant to our High Holiday period, is the discovery of 1500 fossil fragments of the remains of 15 individuals of a new species of human relative. Coincidentally this amazing find took place in my former native South Africa, right outside Johannesburg, in an area visited by the group I led on a mission from CBI two years ago. According to reports these remains, found in a cave, have been there "for millions of years." This discovery will be featured in October's National Geographic magazine and a PBS TV special called "Dawn of Humanity."

I mention this because such discoveries help to put our own lives in perspective, which is exactly what this period in our Jewish calendar is all about – putting our own lives in perspective. Discoveries such as this, which are becoming more and more frequent, help us realize how small we are, that we are but a drop in the ocean, as the Psalmist says, and how old history is. The more we as humans, in our limited capacity, learn and discover, the more we realize how little we actually know, and how vast God's universe is. These thoughts certainly give us pause, they are sobering and humbling and worth contemplating, as we emerge from yet another High Holiday period.

And so as we sit in our flimsy sukkot booths, as we shake our lulavim and etrogim of the four species, while their leaves wither, fall and litter our chapel floor, as we complete the cycle of reading the five Books of Torah on Simchat Torah and immediately begin again - to symbolize the eternity of God, Torah and our People, let us put our own Jewish lives in perspective. As Keith Burris aptly pointed out in his column in The Blade of September 11th, 2015, "I know a wise man who says: "As I get older, I am less and less sure about more and more."...In this age of electronic stridency...it seems there is a mass of uninformed certitude, when what we really need is informed ambivalence."

I hope the many of you I will get to see in shul over these holidays, will continue to avail yourselves of the variety of services and programs we will offer throughout the year, as we at CBI prepare and work towards our exciting milestone 150th!

Shana Tova – I wish you all a wonderful new year!

Hazzan Ivor Lichterman

Our most sincere thanks to all of you, our B'nai Israel family, for your many thoughtful and kind contributions, cards and good wishes in honor of the recent birth of our two grandsons Akiva and Camden, as well as your caring thoughts and support which gave us strength and comfort in the loss of our beloved Margit.

We really appreciate your being part of our lives.
May we all have much to celebrate together in the future.

Jan and Hazzan Ivor Lichterman

Rabbinic Insights from Rabbi Jason

Reasons for Sukkah Sitting

I'd like to begin my column this month by offering my gratitude to the congregation for the meaningful High Holy Day services. For the third year I have truly enjoyed serving as the visiting rabbi for the congregation during the Days of Awe and appreciated the hard work of my partner, Cantor Ivor Lichterman. Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services are so magical at B'nai Israel and that is because of the many congregants who donate their time and energy to ensure their success.

As you read this, we are in the middle of the Sukkot festival. Sukkot is my favorite Jewish holiday of the year. I love building our family's sukkah and enjoying delicious meals with friends and families inside (hopefully during nice autumn weather). While Sukkot might not be as widely observed of a Jewish holiday as Rosh Hashanah or Passover, it is one of the more important holidays.

The most basic mitzvah (commandment) on Sukkot is dwelling in a sukkah. I'm sure you can come up with your own reasons why we eat our meals during Sukkot in the sukkah and some of us even sleep in the sukkah. The actual commandment is leishev ba'Sukkah – to sit in the Sukkah. I'd like to share with you some reasons why we are commanded to dwell in the sukkah during these eight days:

Biblical Reasons - The Torah gives two reasons to sit in the sukkah: one agricultural and one historical. The agricultural reason: "And the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in the results of your work from the field" (Exodus 23). The historical reason is "You shall live in booths seven days; all citizens in Israel shall live in booths. In order that future generations may know that I made the Israelite people live in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt" (Leviticus 23).

Remembering the Difficult Days - Philo, a Hellenistic-Jewish philosopher who lived in Alexandria in the first century C.E., suggests another reason may be, that sitting in the sukkah "should remind us of the long wanderings of our forefathers in the depths of the desert, when at every halting-place they spent many a year in tents. And indeed it is well in wealth to remember your poverty, in distinction your insignificance, in high offices your position as a commoner, in peace your dangers in war, on land the storms on sea, in cities the life of loneliness. For there is no pleasure greater than in high prosperity to call to mind old misfortunes." Philo reasons that it's a pleasure for a prosperous person to remember the "bad old days," but he goes further and says that sitting in the sukkah reminds us how far we have come, and leads us to praise and thank God for all the kindness He has bestowed upon us.

A Lesson in Humility - The Rashbam, one of Rashi's grandsons, says the sukkah is a lesson in humility as it comes to prevent a swelled head. God commanded us to sit in the sukkah precisely at the harvest season when we are congratulating ourselves for our successful harvest and our fancy homes. The humble sukkah reminds us that everything we eat and everything we own comes from God.

Increasing Our Faith - Rabbi Yitzhak Aboab wrote, "When the Sages discussed sitting in the sukkah it was to teach us that a person must not put his trust in the size or strength or conveniences of his house, even though it be filled with the best of everything; nor should he rely upon the help of any person, even though he be the lord of the land. But let him put his trust in God whose word called the universe into being, for God alone is mighty and faithful.

Universal Peace - Rabbi Samson Raphael Hirsch says that the sukkah is a symbol of universal peace and brotherhood, as we recite in the evening service on Shabbat and festivals: "Spread over us Your sukkah of peace."

Remembering the Less Fortunate - The last reason for sitting in the sukkah is that by sitting in a flimsy sukkah, exposed to sun and wind (and in some places, rain and snow!), we are reminded of those less fortunate than ourselves. Precisely at harvest time when we thank God for the bounty he has given us, we must remember to share it with the poor and the hungry.

Of course, all of these reasons for sitting in the sukkah make sense and help us bring meaning to this festival. Elissa, Josh, Jonah and Talya join me in wishing you and your family a Chag Sukkot Sameach!

Rabbi Jason Miller

Shabbaton with Jeremy Benstein

B'nai Israel proudly presents a Shabbaton for all ages. We are thrilled to welcome back one of our own, Dr. Jeremy Benstein who lives in Israel and grew up at B'nai Israel

USY Fall Boards and Freshman Kinnus

Fall Boards is scheduled for the weekend of October 16, 2015. We are asking for your help. Please consider opening up your home and serving as a host family for the convention. We look forward to working with you to make this weekend a huge success!

If you are not able to open your home but want to still get involved, we do need volunteers to help throughout the weekend. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer please contact Megan Miller directly either by phone at 419-376-7169 or e-mail at meganbmiller@bex.net.

David S. Stone Religious School

October is off to a great start at David S. Stone Religious School. September was filled with holiday learning and catching up after a great summer. Our parent/toddler class had terrific sessions learning about all of our amazing Jewish holidays through music and play, as well as making many new friends at Congregation B'nai Israel. Please contact Kim Brody at kbrody@cbitoledo.org if you are interested in joining our parent/toddler class for ages 3 and under.

The annual Sukkot dinner was a tremendous success. Thank you to all that helped prepare this delicious meal. Special thanks to Inge Horowitz for sponsoring the dinner.

Congregation B'nai Israel BITUSY will be hosting USY Fall Boards the weekend of October 18th. We will not have Religious School that weekend but we hope that many of our CBI families will participate in this awesome weekend. We are looking to our congregation to help out and welcome USYers from all over our region.

Our older students are planning a mitzvah trip to prepare and serve lunch at the Cherry Street Mission on Oct 25th. This is an important and meaningful experience for all involved. Our families will be making peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, fruit and chips or pretzels. If you are able to donate any of these kosher items to the office, it would be greatly appreciated on the morning of October 25th.

2015-2016 Torah Fund Campaign 72nd Anniversary

Nat'ah karem is a phrase from the beloved prayer Eishet Chayil, taken from the Biblical Book of Proverbs. We reversion this prayer today with appreciation for the hard-working, generous, family-oriented woman who “plants a vineyard by her own labors” (Proverbs 31:7). We honor her productivity, independence, creativity, and orientation to a hopeful future with the 2016 campaign.

UPCOMING SENIOR EVENTS

The Senior Adult Programs of the Jewish Federation of Greater Toledo are supported in part through your campaign dollars and through a generous grant from the Jewish Senior Services Supporting Organization. All events are part of the Jewish Federation of Greater Toledo and occasionally take place at the various synagogues. Please note registration deadlines for all programs! To register for a Jewish Federation Senior Program, please call 419-724-0354 or email registration@JewishToledo.org.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1

CaptionCall: Life is Calling YOU!

1 p.m.

JFS Senior Adult Center, 2700 Pelham Road

CaptionCall is an amplified telephone that displays written captions of what the callers say on a large, easy to-read display screen. The CaptionCall phone is available at no cost to anyone who has trouble hearing on the phone and has had their hearing loss diagnosed by a hearing-care or healthcare professional. Join us to learn more about CaptionCall's products and services ; there will be a company representative providing a demonstration plus lots of exciting giveaways.

Registration is requested by Monday, September 21.
